TRUAUDIO Introduces the CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH – August 25th, 2003 – Following the impeccable reputation that TruAudio has quickly gained for speaker development, TruAudio now introduces another high-quality speaker system, the CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System. Spending their money on R&D and not just marketing, TruAudio puts forward a small satellite speaker system that blends nicely in any room with the sound quality you'd expect from a larger system.

TruAudio's CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System was modeled to fit in small spaces, yet fill a big room with plenty of sound. Aesthetically, these speakers are designed to complement a room's décor with a size that will also allow you to easily tuck them away and out of sight. The compact cabinets can sit on a shelf or be mounted directly to the wall with color matching brackets. The speakers are available in three different finishes: black, white, and silver. The woofer is available in back and white.

Technically, the CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System delivers the goods. The CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System reproduces high-end sound from speakers 6 inches high and a small 8 inch subwoofer that can hide below an end table. Three different speaker models complete the system. The SAT1's, used for the front two and rear/side two, are small compact cabinets that can sit on a shelf be mounted directly on the wall. The high-tech, stylish looking speaker cabinets are made from actual aluminum and feature polypropylene drivers to ensure accurate yet realistic sound. The Center speaker, CC1, also features the high-tech, stylish looking aluminum cabinet but features dual mid drivers to make sure it easily performs to the level demanded from the center channel. The SUB1, powered subwoofer finishes out the system. As with most of our products, TruAudio has put a lifetime warranty on the CC5.1 Satellite Speaker System.
